NEW PRESIDENT MAKES AN EARLY START FIRST DAY

Members of Cabinet Are Sworn In and Ready for Duty.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the senate republican leader, and representative Mondell, of Wyoming, the house republican leader, called at the White House in the early afternoon to discuss with President Harding the calling of a special session of congress.

WASHINGTON, March 5th.—No date for the special session has been settled, Senator Lodge and Mr. Mondell said after the conference. It was indicated that they would soon again confer with the President on the subject.

Secretary Mellon of the Treasury department was Mr. Harding's next caller.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—Mr. Colby's last official act was to countersign the warrant of office of Mr. Hughes and the new secretary's first official act was to countersign the commission of the other cabinet officers.

Secretary Hughes received the congratulations of Mr. Colby and expressed the hope that he could call upon the retiring secretary for his advice and counsel.

Ten minutes after Mr. Hughes took office, former Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, was sworn in as secretary of war. The ceremony took place in the secretary of war office. Those attending were Secretary Baker, General Pershing, Major General March, chief of staff, and other members of the departmental bureaus.

Former Senator Fall, of New Mexico, the new secretary of the Interior, was the third of the cabinet officers to be sworn in during the day. The oath was administered to him at the interior department in the presence of the retiring secretary, John Barton Payne and officials of the department.

The new president was up early and had breakfast with his family. Early callers at the White House included Henry Wallace, the new secretary of agriculture and Mr. Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce.

Charles Evans Hughes, of New York, became secretary of state at 9:53 a. m. today. He was sworn at the state department by associate justice, Day of the supreme court.

The brief ceremony was performed in the presence of Bainbridge Colby, the retiring secretary; under secretary Davis; Henry P. Fletcher, who has been named under secretary, other officials of the department and a few specially invited guests.

James A. Davis of Pittsburgh, the new secretary of labor and Henry Wallace of Iowa, the new secretary of agriculture also were sworn in during the forenoon.

Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, took the oath yesterday as secretary of the treasury.

BABY SHOW WILL BE HELD IN ADA

Presbyterian Ladies Are To Sponsor Affair; Plans
All Complete.

The Junior Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church are to be sponsors for a Better Babies Health exhibit and show in the near future. The Better Babies contest is a popular as well as scientific movement to insure better babies and a better race. Physical and mental development are considered; mere beauty does not count.

The Better Babies contest insures a better race of Americans because it teaches parents how to improve the physical condition of children already born and to protect those unborn. It arouses interest in the consideration of child life and health and in all forms of child welfare work.

And, by means of a uniform score card, it will supply to the medical profession what has long been wanting, a scientific data concerning the normal child.

The greatest return which parents secure from the contest is more knowledge and better care through the examinations of the child by competent physicians. Small defects are encouraged and remedies are suggested. The babies in this contest will be examined by leading physicians of Ada and the following doctors have generously offered their services: Drs. M. L. Lewis, J. R. Craig, W. D. Faust, King, Boyce and McKeel.

Parents will leave this contest knowing more about their children than they ever knew before, and the children are given a better start in life because of the knowledge gained by the parents. An eight-page folder, "Hints to Mothers Who Want Better Babies," which will assist mothers in the care of their children according to modern methods, will be given free to the mothers. Among the topics discussed are breast feeding, bottle feeding, weaning, diet for children up to 3 years of age, clothing, exercise, bathing and general health.

Children from six months to sixty months may be entered. There will be five divisions as follows:

1st Division: Children 6 months of age up to and including 1 year.

2nd Division: Children 13 months of age up to and including 2 years.

3rd Division: Children 25 months of age up to and including 3 years.

4th Division: Children 37 months of age up to and including 4 years.

5th Division: Children 49 months of age up to and including 5 years.

There will also be a display of clothing suitable for and including infant size up to and including 6 years of age. Many mothers do not know just how simply or how elaborately to dress their children. For their examination will be garments of the simplest and most practical daintiest and garments of beauty. These garments will show the mother just how she may dress her child in the simplest or the most beautiful and in perfect good taste. These garments will be for sale and any article may be purchased by any mother.

Watch the paper for further items of interest, for the exact dates, for the prizes, and other things which have not as yet been announced. And also tell your friends and neighbors in the county who are mothers that they and their babies will miss much if they do not enter them in the contest.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday are:

THE PRESIDENT'S LAST OFFICIAL ACT

Authorizes Return of Unknown Soldier's Body
From France.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—The joint resolution of congress providing for the return from France of the body of an unknown soldier and its burial in Arlington National cemetery, one of the last measures to be signed by President Wilson, was transmitted today to the war department today, where arrangements will be made for the return of the body and appropriate ceremonies for the burial.

Word came from the home of Woodrow Wilson today that the former president apparently suffered no ill effects from his trip yesterday to the capitol. Mr. Wilson was up at the usual hour this morning and busied himself about his new home, directing the hanging of pictures and the arrangement of furniture.

First Day of Good Roads Drive Very Successful

Citizens Give Good Support
To Solicitors of Organization.

The membership drive for the Good Roads Motor Club which was launched in Pontotoc county Wednesday has resulted in securing a minimum of 300 members to the club in Ada alone, and when reports from the other towns are received it is believed that the number will be doubled. And Wednesday's drive was merely the opening day of the campaign, which will be waged in every section of the county during the remainder of March. Every resident of the county will have been given an opportunity to join the club before the end of the month. Every progressive citizen will have joined, because they are all for good roads.

The work of H. B. Roach featured the efforts of the campaign committees in Ada Wednesday. Mr. Roach, who was not confined to any certain section of the city and who was of the committee-at-large, put in some telling strokes and secured many members for the club. For that matter, though, each member of the various committees worked faithfully and their united efforts were well rewarded.

N. B. Stall, temporary chairman of the club, stated this morning that the results of the campaign to date were thoroughly satisfactory. The quota for Ada, he said, would easily be reached.

"The committees found the residents of Ada in a receptive mood," said Mr. Stall. "Many would join at a moment's hesitation, and they due for a year in advance and then thank the committee for giving them the opportunity to get into this work. They are the kind of men who make a success of such projects as this."

"After checking up the reports of the committees last night we

In Memorium

Champ Clark.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—Congress and all of Washington today lavished a tribute of love and respect to the memory of Champ Clark.

Funeral services were held in the great hall of the House where more than a third of his life was spent in the service of his country and where the echoes of yesterday's event still seemed to hover.

Piled high with flowers, the coffin in which the veterans slept, stood under the speaker's desk where he had served eight years over deliberations of the House. All about it were banked the bright flowers that pointed in from friends everywhere, and in the simple services, without show or pomp and in the shaken voices of those elected by their fellowmen to speak the love in which the dead leader was held, laid the highest tribute of all.

At the conclusion of the brief services the coffin was opened and for an hour mourning friends flocked to look their last on the face familiar to every man, woman and child about the capitol. Then it was carried to a special train that will carry it to burial in Missouri soil, guarded to the last resting place by an escort of fellow house members and senators who knew and loved him.

The next game played was between the first girls team of Francis and Milburn, but by hard playing the Milburn girls managed to win with a safe score of 23 to 13. Other games played up to supper time were those between Stratford and Mannsville (boys) with Stratford winning by a score of 20 to 13; Center and Stonewall (girls) played next, the game being slow and uninteresting, and Stonewall won 21 to 4. Next came the Wewoka boys who met the Sasakwa team. This was the Wewoka team's first appearance on the court and they made a good showing. Their band was present and assisted by a good support of the crowd, made much ado of the big score their team piled up. The game ended with a one-sided score of 52 to 6. This was the highest score made by any team during the day. The last game of the afternoon was that between the Maud and Sasakwa (girls) teams.

At the beginning of the evening playing the Ada boys met defeat at the hands of the Francis team. The final score was 28 to 15, thus eliminating the local lads in the first lap of the tournament. They made a hard fight for victory, however, and gave their opponents well their money's worth.

Other games of the evening were those between Stratford and Centerview (girls), score 6 to 4, the Wewoka and Sulphur girls, score 32 to 8; the Ada and Sasakwa girls, score 16 to 12; the Sulphur and Center boys, score 21 to 13. Of these games the Ada-Sulphur girls was the most interesting and hardest contested. The Wewoka-Sulphur girls' game was also a good one. This was the Wewoka girls' first appearance on the court and they made a good showing.

The closing game of the evening was that between the Konawa and Wewoka boys' teams. These teams had each won in the first preliminaries and played off the second preliminary for better schedule this morning. The game was hard fought and both teams were compelled to put forth the best in them at times during the game. The Wewoka boys were heavier and had the advantage of training in their favor and won the game by a score of 27 to 10. This game was the most interesting boys' game of the evening.

At the morning session the following games were played: Milburn vs. Stonewall girls, with Milburn winning by a score of 12 to 8; Macomb vs. Center boys with Macomb winning by a score of 33 to 19; Centerview vs. Tupelo girls with Centerview winning by a score of

E.C. BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Many Hard Games Played;
Strong Teams Contest
Tonight.

Starting off with a rush, and with the largest attendance to any athletic event in the history of the school, the East Central Basketball tournament opened yesterday with 28 teams entered. All during the afternoon preliminary games were played at which time the weaker teams were eliminated, and when the first day of the meet closed all of the preliminary games had been played, and in some instances the second preliminaries.

There were 14 boys' teams and 14 girls' teams entered and many interesting games were played during the day. Some were onesided, other more closely contested, but it was late in the evening before real interesting games were played. After the weaker and inferior teams had been eliminated, the victors rallied for the fight to the semi-final line. These games were all hard fought and many interesting and clever plays were made.

Teams Well Matched
All of the teams have been well matched, although some were by far the superiors in skill over their opponents. The gym was packed yesterday afternoon and filled to overflowing last night. There was also a good attendance this morning when the games were again taken up after the discontinuance last night. After the games this morning had been played some of the teams had reached the semi-finals, while others had completed the semi-finals.

At the beginning of the meet yesterday Konawa and Maud boys were first to play with a score of 42 to 13. The next game was between Ada and Tupelo (girls) teams, but the game was uninteresting. The Ada girls by far outwitted their opponents and won by the high score of 39 to 4. Stonewall and Centerview (boys) were next to play with Centerview winning with a score of 26 to 20.

Ada Boy Scouts Stage Inaugural Ceremony on Streets of City

Ada Scouts in all probability are the only scouts in Oklahoma, at least and perhaps in the whole United States who celebrated in most patriotic, realistic and dignified fashion the inauguration of President Warren G. Harding.

Starting at the scout headquarters, with the High School Boy Scout band leading under the direction of Prof. W. A. Hill, and President Warren G. Harding, represented by Thomas Steed of Troop 1, President Woodrow Wilson represented by Carlos Wadlington, Vestor Willoughby acting as military aid to President Harding, in one simply decorated car furnished by the Ada Motor company, and Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall represented by William Roach of Troop 1 and Vice-President Colledge represented by Loran Stafford of Troop 4, and Mike McCoy as military aid in another car, and accompanied by guards and all of the scout troops in the city, the Boy Scout's Harding Inaugural Procession marched up main street and quietly and with dignity carried out the inaugural ceremonies.

As Edwin Santerbury, who represented Chief Justice White of the U. S. Supreme court, very solemnly administered the oath and after which Tom Steed as Harding, delivered a very forceful and impressive manner, a short speech outlining the president's policies and giving a short sketch of each member of the cabinet.

The scouts acquitted themselves well. A large and appreciative audience witnessed their simply but dignified ceremonies. The scouts wish to express their thanks to the Ada Motor company for the use of the cars and to Capt. Byron Siedge and Lowery Harrell for their advice and help in making the inaugural ceremonies a success.

English Papers Comment on President Harding's Views.

(By the Associated Press)
MANCHESTER, England, Mar. 5.—"President Harding in his inaugural address yesterday, expressed his willingness to join some sort of organization which would prevent future wars," says the Manchester Guardian, in commenting on the inaugural address of the new American president. The newspaper adds that Harding is called upon to bridge a difficult passage in American relations with the rest of the world.

"Mr. Harding's message is carefully wrapped in one hope," says the paper, and "through the whole address runs a forceful current of that determination to help make future wars impossible, which led to the foundation of the league of nations."

"Isolationist."
LIVERPOOL, England, Mar. 5.—The Post, commenting on President Harding's inaugural address, says he lays stress upon the urgency of an international understanding, but that at the same time time, it claims himself an isolationist.

"The whole address," says the newspaper, "breathes an intense desire for the pacification of the world."

28 to 12; Francis vs. Stratford boys with Francis winning by a score of 31 to 13; Ada vs. Wewoka girls with Wewoka winning by a score of 17 to 13. CAPTURE CITY AND CONTINUE TO MARCH SOUTH

Subject Discussed by New Cabinet Members at Washington.

PANAMA, Mar. 5.—Costa Rica forces have crossed the Panama frontier and appear to have over run the northeast section of the province of Boaca del Toro, after crossing the Sicoila river, which forms the boundary between Costa Rica and Panama. The Costa Ricans captured the town of Guabiro and advanced southward, reaching Alamante, 20 miles from the frontier yesterday afternoon. Unorganized Panama forces in Alamante evacuated the town and retreated without opposition.

A bridge across the Sicoila river owned by the United Fruit company has been blown up, it is reported.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—The Panama-Costa Rico situation was the first subject taken up today by Charles Evans Hughes, after he had taken the oath as secretary of state. He spent an hour closeted with Under Secretary Davis and Henry P. Fletcher, who is to be the new under secretary and then went to the White House to see President Harding.

Mr. Hughes spent more than an hour with the president and during the conference John W. Weeks, the new secretary of war, was called in.

In his talk with Davis before his visit to the White House, Mr. Hughes was understood to have expressed full approval of the action of the retiring secretary of state in ordering warships sent to both ends of the canal zone to guarantee protection to American interests, which is believed to be endangered by the conflict between Panama and Costa Rica.

HUMOR OF BOYS

"My next door neighbor has a boy who is going to get into trouble if he doesn't reform," said the retired merchant. "He's always playing idiotic tricks on me, and I'm getting tired of it. This morning, as I was leaving home, I found my front gate nailed shut, and I had to climb over it, and nearly broke my back doing it."

"I wouldn't give three cents for a boy who didn't play tricks," replied the hotel-keeper. "I expect you were as giddy as the rest of them when you were young."

Whenever a boy puts up a job on me, and I feel myself getting mad, I recall some of my own exploits when I was a lad, and that enables me to forget my troubles.

"I was looking through an ancient album last evening, and saw the pictures of a lot of people who fell off the earth many years ago. They were venerable men and women in my schooldays, and I had played tricks on every one of them; not with malice aforethought, but just because a kid must have his fun."

"There was a picture of old Aunt Betsy, who used to come to our house once in a while, on a visit, and as soon as she came she took charge of everything. She knew how to do things better than anybody else, and she was always criticizing my mother's methods. Whenever mother started to do anything, Aunt Betsy would take the job out of her hands, saying she would show the right way to do it."

"I had heard somewhere that if you put a drop or two of acetic acid in a gallon of cream, that cream will never make butter. I had a great memory for such facts, and kept them on file where they would be useful. One morning mother said she would have to churn, and she got things ready. I knew that as soon as she started Aunt Betsy would want to show her how it should be done, so when I had a chance, I dropped some of the acid into the churn, which was one of those old upright affairs, with a dasher that you worked up and down until the butter came."

"Mother seated herself on a stool and began churning, and then Aunt Betsy came along, and said that while she was a modest and unassuming woman, she did claim to know a little more about churning than anybody of her weight in that part of the country. 'Let me do it, my dear,' said she, 'and I'll have butter in seven minutes by the clock.' So she took hold of the dasher and began shapping away with it. She worked and worked, and the sweat began rolling down her face, and every once in a while she'd lift the lid of the churn to see what all the doggone cream, and then she'd pour in some cold water, and then some hot water, and the more she wrestled away, the less sign of butter was there."

"She whanged away at that ding-busted churn for two hours and couldn't get results, and she was so mad and disgusted over it she wanted to pack her trunk and go back home. Mother saw me rolling around in the yard all doubled up with unholy mirth, and she realized at once, by deductive reasoning, that I was responsible, and the licking I got that evening took the edge off my sense of humor for three weeks."

"Another time, Uncle James was visiting us. He used to sit in a rustic chair under an apple tree and doze, after dinner. He had a bald head, and his hat always slid off after he had dozed a few times. One day I sneaked up behind him with a feather and began tickling his head. He'd slap his dome of thought and cuss a little, and then doze again, when I would get busy with the feather. That went on for quite a while, and I was having the time of my life. I never heard any language more highly colored than Uncle James put up."

"My mother heard him saying things, and came to the door and asked him what was the matter, and he said a ding-dozed lopsided fly was chewing his scalp off. He had chased it away three million times, but it always came back. I got another licking that night, and my mind was occupied with serious things for a month."

SCENE OF HARDING INAUGURATION AND BIBLE USED

The "front porch" of the capitol was the scene of Warren G. Harding's inauguration to the highest office in the country. He took his oath on the Bible used by George Washington. The photographs show the capitol steps on which the inauguration stand was erected, also the Bible Harding used. Previous to the inauguration the Bible was resting in the rooms of the Masonic Lodge at Alexandria, Va. It was taken to Washington and used by Chief Justice White of the Supreme Court in swearing in the new president.

THEFTS INCREASE, ENGLISH COMPLAIN

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—A great outcry has arisen in the shipping world over the heavy losses that are incurred through the depredations of thieves many of whom it is suspected are in the employ of the companies that are the victims.

Lord Asplwith states it has been estimated that in transport through the port of London alone, through pilfering in various forms, there is a loss of $700,000.00 a year.

One shipping company says that where as, before the war its losses on cargo attributable to thefts amounted to one shilling and four pence per ton, it now amounts to 26 shillings and ninepence per ton.

Increases of wages, it is asserted afforded no guarantee of greater trustworthiness. Rather the contrary. The average wages of stewards are said to be four times their pay before the war but it is in those departments on passenger liners with which stewards are most concerned that depredations, it is declared, are most noticeable.

The manager of one line running to Australia said that recently he had to expend well over $400 in replacing the linen stolen on one round voyage alone. On this same round trip the stewards' charges for "over time" amounted to $420.

"Even the captain's boy charged $7 for overtime on the voyage," said the manager. "If the captain rang for the boy to bring him a drink the boy charged one hour's overtime for fetching it, provided he had already done his eight hours."

Much plundering undoubtedly takes place before the goods are stowed on shipboard, steamship men declare. Cases of machinery have been found to be full of stable manure and those supposed to contain gold and silver goods to be filled with shavings.

"The thieving that is going on at sea an in docks is beyond anything in history," writes Lord Incheape, chairman of the Peninsular and Oriental Company. "A man recently removed the clocks from the smoking and music rooms of one of our steamers, while the passengers were embarking at Tilbury dock and they have never been traced. Within the last few days a piano was removed from one of the steamers in dock and carried off to a cottage where, however, was recovered."

Stewards, through their union officials, strongly resent Lord Incheape's charge that much of the stealing that goes on in steamers is done by them. One of the officials declares that the fondness of the passengers for collecting what they call "souvenirs" is responsible for far more "missing" articles than are the stewards.

VERDICT IN LIQUOR CASE REVERSED AND REMANDED

AUSTIN, Tex.—Reversal was ordered today in the court of criminal appeals in the case of Thomas Burelago from Falls county, who had been convicted of manufacturing liquor containing alcohol in excess of 1 percent and sentenced to one year. The case is remanded for another trial.

Appellant defended on the ground that he was making the liquor as a medicine for his own use. His testimony and that of other witnesses raised that issue of fact, and for that reason the judgment of the lower court was reversed.

It is said in the record that appellant is 88 years old, and Associate Judge F. L. Hawkins in writing the opinion said:

"The jury might have concluded from the quantity of liquor on hand and in the process of making that appellant was attempting at one operation to secure enough of deor excessive innervation of the eye muscles depletes the nerve centers. It also gives rise to brain irritation of various degrees—dispositions are altered by it, character is forcibly changed; mental faculties are impelled into channels of work that are anomalous.

These conditions may force a man to appear to the world an entirely different character from what he otherwise would have been. So, if in time these disturbing conditions can be corrected, we may expect to see favorable changes in the physical, mental and moral parts of the individual.

GO TO THEATRE

McSwain's

To make himself as foppish as possible is the ambition of William Brunton, the character leading man, who is furnishing the comedy relief in "The Mad Marriage" now playing at the McSwain Theatre.

In "The Mad Marriage" Brunton depicts the role of Willie, a hopelessly absurd young man of the idle rich who is so immaculately dressed that lifting his eyebrows is an effort resulting in the most prostrating fatigue. It is a role for which he has gained a wide reputation in other productions.

Brunton was born in London, Canada, and graduated at the Trinity College School in Toronto. In 1907 he joined a repertoire show and toured the country, followed by indignant letters from his family. Later he established his own stock company at Santa Barbara, California, and played for several seasons before he joined Oliver Morosco's stock company. In spite of the fact that his grandmother was Helen Brunton, the grand opera star, his family objected to his presence on the stage and only with his success in the films have they removed their objection. The last day of Bob Bieber and the Middy Gartin today.

The American Theater has for today the very best program for many days. This popular picture house has been carrying the best film service that can be bought and often shows pictures for popular prices that cost dollar a seat in the cities.

The picture just shown, "The Eyes of the Heart" was one of the best.

Tonight they show "The Tavern Knight" taken from Rafael Sabatini's novel and this picture alone is worth the price of admission.

Beside the leading picture will be seen a Mutt and Jeff comedy, and the latest Pathe weekly news all for the price of one.

"HUMORESQUE" FILM OF INTENSE APPEAL TO BE SHOWN HERE

Fannie Hurst's most appealing story, "Humoresque," has been transferred to the screen and will be the feature attraction at the McSwain Theater, March 14 and 15. The intensely human atmosphere of the novel is said to have been incorporated into the picture with singular success.

The story centers around Leon Kantor, a boy of the Ghetto who shows an intense love for music. His mother who has always wanted a musician son, is delighted and on his seventh birthday buys him a violin. Leon's playmate is pretty Gina Ginsberg. Fifteen years later, Leon is a recognized genius. On the night of his triumph at a big concert given for his people of the Ghetto, he enlists. Leon returns from France with a shattered shoulder and it is said that he will never be able to play the violin again. Leon's music is his life. He becomes morose and discouraged. Before the war he had become engaged to Gina. Now he wishes to release her from marrying him—a cripple. But in a very wonderful way he is restored to full strength, and to the joy of his mother and Gina, turns toward new conquests in the realm of music.

THREE PERSONS. NOW ALIVE SAW PRES. JACKSON

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Only three known persons are living today who saw Andrew Jackson.

Until recently only two known living persons had seen General Jackson and publication of their names resulted in a third being found by a local historian. The first of these Mrs. Rachael Jackson Lawrence of Nashville, the general's great-granddaughter; the second is Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, and the third is Howard Waldo of Campbell Hall, Orange county N.Y. who is 89 years old.

When Mr. Waldo was nine years old, his father, Samuel Levett Waldo, an eminent artist, made a portrait of Andrew Jackson in his old Pin street studio in New York city, and the boy saw the general on his visits. The portrait now hangs in the old United States custom house in New Orleans. Mr. Waldo relating his recollections of General Jackson said he was a stern looking man with iron-grey hair which he wore cut short and in pompadour style. He always came to the studio in citizens clothes but the artist Jackson painted the general in uniform. The artist sketched Jackson's head and shoulders on a wooden panel which was never touched except when the general was sitting. From the panel, which is now in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York city, the portrait was transferred to the life-size painting of General Jackson on horseback. The painting, which was made in 1840 or 1841, was done by Samuel L. Waldo, having been commissioned by the people of New Orleans in honor of General Jackson's victory at New Orleans over the British forces under General Pakenham. The New Orleans people paid $500 for the painting of the picture, which was a good price in those days.

Howard Waldo also recollects having met Daniel Webster in New York and having been impressed by the majestic appearance in a rough, long-napped beaver hat of light grey color, a dark blue coat with plain brass buttons and buff vest and trousers.

Scores Killed and Mangled in Crash of Two Passenger Trains

The exact number of persons killed when a New York Central passenger train crashed into the middle of a Michigan Central train at Porter, Ind., may never be known. The mangled condition of the bodies prevents determining the exact number. The list is placed between thirty-three and thirty-five. The wreck occurred where the tracks of the two lines converge into a single track, used by both lines. The wreck occurred late in the day and rescue work was delayed until wreck trains brought acetylene lights from Chicago and other cities.

MILES OF PIPE IN OIL FIELDS

Do Work of 200,000 Oil Tank Cars and 8,000 Locomotives.

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—Winding back and forth in an iron net-work concealed beneath the oil fields of the United States, a gigantic labyrinth of pipelines 50,000 miles long, daily is doing work that would require 200,000 oil tank cars and 8,000 locomotives fully one month to handle, according to estimates of pipeline transportation experts.

Practically every barrel of oil taken from the massive 25,600 active wells today is shot through these pipelines, and in this way reaches the oil refineries and subsequently the oil markets, weeks and sometimes months sooner than if shipped by railroads.

The rapid movement through the pipes, compared with rail transportation, is due to the fact that the flow through the underground system is not stopped at any point until it reaches its destination in the refiners' tanks, whereas the tank car, attached to the freight train, must wait for block signals, must change crews at division points and finally, at its destination must await its turn in the disassembling of the train.

Consequently the oil pipe lines system of the country has now come to be regarded as essential to the ever-increasing rate of oil production as the well driller himself.

The history of pipe line transportation goes back to Civil War days and has its setting in the pioneer oil fields of Pennsylvania when production began to outstrip transportation facilities.

This gave birth to the first pipe line system. In 1861 Heman Jones of Erie, Pa., conceived a four-inch wooden pipe line from the Tarr farm to Oil City, Pa., but never carried it out. Then in 1862, a bill to aid pipe line construction was introduced in the Pennsylvania legislature but it was beaten by a teamsters' lobby.

In 1862 J. L. Hutchings, a New Jersey operator, constructed a two-inch line from the Tarr farm to Humboldt, Pa. But the teamsters destroyed the line, tearing up huge strips of it. He tried again in 1863 but again the line was destroyed.

But in 1865, with the aid of the state police, Henry Harley successfully resisted the teamsters and operated the first successful line of two-inch piping, handling from six to eight barrels a day from Benninghoff Run to Shaffer, Pa.

refineries and southward to the Gulf coast stations. The fields proper are honeycombed with the smaller, feeder pipes, connecting and feeding the trunk systems. A new well usually means a new pipe line.

The flow through this system is incessant but when there is a demand for a different grade of oil, there is injected into the same system a header, or slug of water perhaps three feet long and this header separates the different grades. Then another header is injected and following this is the original grade of oil, continuing to flow.

Frequently a bullet-like "go devil" is pumped through the piping in the midst of the flow. The revolving knives at the end of this projectile cut the pipe snugly, cutting from the walls as it proceeds an accumulated sediment which soon plug the pipe if left alone.

The oil helped along its course at intervals by secondary pumping engines. In some places the pipes are exposed to view, running along railroad right-of-ways, but more frequently they are buried about three feet in the earth to protect them from weather and accident. The lines frequently follow the railroad tracks, because it is simpler to contract a right-of-way with one railroad company than with a score of individual property owners. It is estimated that the system transports a total of 500,000 barrels of oil daily.

The United States geological survey estimated the fixed value of the system at $500,000,000.

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S.C.—"I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month. I was not able to do any work and tried a lot of medicine, but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book that was thrown in my door, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. I have not paper enough to tell you how much it has done for me and for my friends. You may print this letter if you wish."—ELIZABETH C. CORLEY, care of A. P. Corley, Edmund, S.C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

TWELFTH STREET PARK FOR SCOUTS

Troops Will Have Charge of the City's Beauty Spot.

The east part of the street park on 12th street between Broadway and Rennie has been turned over to the Ada scouts, by the city officials, who will expect the boys to care for it and make it one of the beauty spots of the city. The Ada Fire boys have the west half and the scouts will endeavor to make their part of the street look as well as the fire men do theirs if not better.

Flowers and bulbs will be planted, the grass will be kept mown, and the general appearance of the park will be kept in the best condition possible during the summer months. Each troop will have a charge of the park for a month and judges have been appointed to name the troop that does the work in the best manner. These judges will be Mayor Kitchens and Commissioner Jones.

SCOUTING GETS GOOD WELCOME

Allen Boys Organize Full Troop at Meeting.

ALLEN, Mar. 4.—(Special)—At a peppy and enthusiastic meeting here of Allen boys one night this week scouting was given its most cordial welcome in the county for some time. There was a large number of boys present who were interested in the work and 32, a full troop, were signed up.

Through the courtesy of the churches, the scout executive was permitted to speak for a few minutes at each one Sunday night and through the courtesy of the school board and teachers, he was permitted to present scouting in the high school. At the meeting patrol leaders, assistant leaders, a scribe, treasurer and reporter were elected. Mr. Perry Blue was chosen scout master and Mr. Geo. Adams was chosen assistant scout master.

TULSA HAS BOY SCOUT BAND

TULSA.—A new departure in Boy Scout endeavor for Tulsa is to be launched here in the form of a Boy Scout band, now being recruited by John M. Lindley scout executive. The organization will include probably 100 pieces, taking into account a drum and bugle corps which will form a part.

TO HOLD MEET WITH SHAWNEE

Plans To Be Submitted Next Week.

The Ada scout authorities are now preparing a list of track and field events to be submitted to the Shawnee scout authorities. This will be done next week and if the meet can be arranged plans will be made for it.

Among these plans will be the holding of a preliminary meet among the Ada troops to determine the boys who are to represent the city. As to whether the meet will be held here or at Shawnee has not yet been decided.

This will be the first event of the kind ever undertaken by the two teams.

Troops should not wait until the last minute to begin practice for the track meet. Now is the time to start.

Jenks Feaster has advanced to the rank of second class scout.

SCOUTS ARE EXAMINED

Boys Are Given Tests by Committeemen.

The expert examiners for first class scouts in merit badge tests met in their first official meeting last Tuesday evening. This committee of examiners is composed of Dr. M. M. Webster, Messrs. C. P. Penrose and H. E. Hamilton. Harry Faust, qualified for seven merit badges at this meeting and Harold Allen qualified for three. The committee will meet once every three weeks and the next meeting will be held Tuesday March 22, at 7 o'clock at the scout headquarters.

WHAT DO SCOUTS DO?

If there are any citizens in this city who are yet unsatisfied as to what scouts do, there should no longer be any doubt in their mind. If by looking back over the past few months and recalling instances in which the scouts were the leaders, or in which they took part, it will be seen what they do. First during the Christmas holidays they assisted in the charity work. They have held stunt nights, at which time the boys were brought together and taught how to play in good fellowship, and to have respect for the loser. Where they were given good wholesome sport, that was clean and uplifting.

During the scout week an excellent opportunity was furnished for evidence on this subject. A meeting was held to which all were invited. Here badges were awarded that told of the untiring efforts of the lads to win them. Another night was spent in entertaining the mothers. Another night was devoted to entertaining the fathers of the scouts with a banquet and the last day of the week was spent in distributing anti-spit cards. They held the first inaugural ceremony ever seen in the city, and were probably the only scouts in the state to do so. They are planning to care for a city park. They will hold a meet with out of town scouts. And there are countless other things that have been brought into their lives that would not otherwise have been experienced by them.

But when the night comes, and Every man is a King of Dreams!

One is a slave to a master's cry,

Big Meeting To Be Held at Court House Tonight

Members of the Ada Labor organization are looking forward to a great time at the district court room tonight. The entertainment committee has intimated to the membership that two good speakers will be on hand to address them and an invitation has been extended to the general public to share the evening's entertainment.

It is probable that an address will be delivered by a French lady who served with the American Red Cross during the world war, who was wounded in the service during the last big drive and came to the United States a few months later the wife of a lad in khaki.

Large crowds have attended the former meetings of the organization. Good speakers have been on hand at each meeting and the organized efforts of the men to better their conditions have been crowned with great success in many instances.

The meeting tonight will begin at 7:30 p. m. Every body welcome.

Stands Trial for Death of Man Shot, Hacked to Death

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 7.—(Special)—The trial of Elwood B. Wade for the murder of George B. Nott, now on, is attracting at least state-wide attention. While Assistant State's Attorney Carter at the opening of the trial was recapitulating incidents attendant on a crime regarded as the most brutal in Bridgeport's police history the twenty-three-year-old defendant gazed dreamily out of a courtroom window. His girl-wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Wade, sat near one another, seldom taking their gaze from Wade. Nott was beaten with an iron bar, shot and then hacked with a carving knife until he died. The murder occurred August 29, last year.

Spectators, who all but stormed the doors of the courtroom for admittance, gasped in amazement when they heard the state's attorney link the name of the boy-faced defendant with such a deed. His weeks in jail had placed no pallor on Wade's chubby cheeks. He has unusually large, lustrous eyes and long, curling lashes.

Will Be Three Trials. The court has held that Mrs. Ethel H. Nott, widow of the slain man, and John E. Johnston, who also have been indicted for murder in the first degree, shall get separate trials.

From the course of the state's attorney's address to the jury, in which he emphasized that "Wade alone clubbed, shot and stabbed Nott" it was inferred that Mrs. Nott and Johnston may be witnesses for the state in the Wade case.

Persons who had hoped to see Mrs. Nott's two children at the early sessions were disappointed. It has been asserted that the children were forced to play a piano while the murderer placed Nott's body in a trunk and then cleared the house.

of traces of the crime. The children, Ruth and George are with their grandmother, Mrs. Dolly McLamater. She was among the spectators.

In outlining the case, Carter said the state would seek to prove that Wade had been intimately associated with Mrs. Nott and had been warned by Nott to refrain from paying attentions to her. The accused man, Carter said on several occasions bragged, "no one can have Mrs. Nott but me." Wade denies killing Nott.

WOMAN WANTED FOR INSPECTOR OF STATE INDIANS

(By the Associated Press.)
TULSA, Jan. 7.—A campaign to install Mrs. Lillah B. Lindsey of Tulsa, prominent among civic organizations of the city and of Indian descent, as Indian inspector in Oklahoma, has been started by C. B. Douglas and other Tulsa citizens. Negotiations have been undertaken with the interior department at Washington with the expectation of bringing about her appointment. Should the appointment be granted Mrs. Lindsey, she will be the first woman Indian inspector in the history of the nation. Mr. Douglas declared. Mrs. Lindsey, whose ancestors were Cherokee and Creek Indians, came to Oklahoma 34 years ago as a missionary teacher to the Creeks. Mrs. Lindsey is president of the Housewives' League, an official of the Community Kitchen, which has for its purpose instruction of proficient cooks, and is prominent in other county civic organizations.

Chester Is Arraigned.
KANSAS CITY—Donzel Chester, charged with the murder of Miss Florence Barton, a local society girl, several weeks ago, was arraigned in the office of the county attorney and his counsel entered a plea of not guilty.

The date set for Chester's preliminary hearing was January 15. He was held without bond.

ADA SEED AND FEED COMPANY

This enterprising Seed and Feed company is one of the largest in this part of the state and have on hand now the most complete line of garden and field seed ever shown in the city of Ada.

Mr. Paul H. Payne came to Ada about 8 months ago, from Muskogee where he had been in business with his father for a number of years. He bought his present store from C. W. Zorn who had owned it for four years. Mr. Payne is originally from Kansas City, and his experience in the feed and seed business is a great advantage to him in running the store in Ada.

This seed and feed store is located at 115 South Broadway, phone 697, and carry a full and complete line of feed and seeds, such as hay, bran, chops, etc. They also carry a line of Poultry and stock supplies. They own a large warehouse located on the Katy railroad where they have a large stock of feed and seeds at all times.

This establishment is located in a brick building 25x100 and employs three men besides the owner. They have one delivery wagon which is kept busy constantly, as they do both a wholesale and retail business.

The farmers of the community, and more especially the local gardeners are taking advantage of Mr. Payne's knowledge of his business, by having him help them select the proper seeds for their spring gardens and fields.

Mr. Payne is making a success as shown by the ever increasing business. He attributes his success to the fact that he is always trying to give service to his customers, and this feature is surely assisting very materially in the building up of his business.

POLISH WOMEN AND CHILDREN DO HARD MANUAL LABOR

(By the Associated Press)

RYBNIK, Upper Silesia, Feb. 11.—Women laborers in mines and factories and on railroads are more numerous than men in several districts of the coal region here. Girls and boys of ten and twelve years are regularly employed, digging, ballasting run-ways, pushing trucks, and doing other heavy work which before the war was done only by men.

This is the territory hitherto a part of Germany but claimed now by Poland. A plebiscite, or vote of the people, soon will be held under the terms of the peace treaty of Versailles to decide whether Upper Silesia will remain German or become a part of Poland.

The German mine owners say shortage of labor and post-war economic conditions have forced the women and children into this toil which under German administration was forbidden. There is also a shortage of manpower because of the great number of soldiers from here who were killed in the war.

The women engaged in the heavy work generally are Poles; distinguished by the bright shawl-like headress which they affect. Some of them have adopted a modification of man's apparel as better suited to their work. The correspondents saw three women of two scores or more who constituted a "section gang" wearing heavy trousers under their short skirts.

The majority of the women wear heavy shoes with thick wooden soles and cloth tops, all home-made. Some have heavy boots, which apparently were once the property of German soldiers.

Coal veins in this section generally follow closely the surface of the ground and the work of taking coal out consists of simply digging it up. Some of the face-ers have little mines on their land and when their day's work is done they may be seen digging a night's supply of fuel. The mine owners do not interfere with these individual mining operations, even when they are carried out on rented farms.

Notice.

During the month of March while I am doing special postgraduate work in Chicago, Dr. W. E. Boyce will have charge of my practice.—Dr. Isham L. Cummings. 2-26-10td

Jackson's Inauguration Most Turbulent One in U.S. History

Dignity and precedent went by the board when Andrew Jackson, known as "Old Hickory" and the "People's Candidate," was inaugurated as president March 4, 1829. Never had such crowds assembled. Never had food and liquor been dispensed with so lavish and indiscriminate a hand. Jackson was almost crushed into unconsciousness by the press of the drunken crowds.

It was the wildest and most turbulent inauguration in the history of the country, and it has never been duplicated, though in point of numbers attending it does not approach subsequent inaugurations. It was a violent contrast to the inaugurations of the presidents who preceded him, all of which had been distinguished by a quiet colonial dignity. It is certain to provide a striking contrast to the passing inauguration ceremony of Warren G. Harding, the first candidate to be inaugurated since the advent of prohibition.

Adams Did Not Attend.

One of the features of the ceremony was the absence of President John Quincy Adams, Jackson's predecessor. Adams and Jackson had been friends until there appeared in a section of the Adams press a scurrilous attack on Jackson's wife, who had died a short time before. Jackson laid the blame for this at Adams's door and refused to make the White House calls prescribed by custom. Adams, who was innocent of guilt in this matter, resented this rebuff and he and his friends stayed away from the capital during the induction ceremonies. The uniformed troops added further to Jackson's difficulties by declining to act as his escort, wherefore "Old Hickory" had to depend on a crowd of Revolutionary soldiers and officers for escort.

A forerunner of the turbulence of inauguration day was enacted in Gadsby's Inn, a tavern which was later to become the National hotel. Here had congregated companions at arms, backwoodsmen, and many others who knew Jackson more or less intimately, or who had helped elect him to the presidency. The

Special Address To the Confederate Veterans Sunday

"The Woman of the South During the War," will be the subject of an address which will be delivered by a prominent local speaker Sunday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting of William L. Byrd post of the Confederate Veterans at the city hall. The meeting will be held at 2:30 o'clock.

The ranks of the membership of the great Confederate organization have been thinned by death during the last few years but the members who remain are more devoted to their order than ever before and are always glad to have their friends who are not members meet with them and participate in the joys of every occasion.

The damage done to the city hall recently by fire has been repaired and all who attend the meeting will be made comfortable during the address.

Presbyterian Church.

The First Presbyterian church at the corner on Fourteenth street and Broadway. Rev. N. P. Patterson, D.D., Pastor. The services on Sunday will be as follows:

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor Society meets at 9 o'clock. Miss Mollie Russell, superintendent.

Sunday school convenes at 9:45. Miles C. Grigsby, superintendent. Mrs. H. P. Reich, superintendent of the primary school.

Dr. Patterson, the pastor, will preach at 11 o'clock on "Historical Presbyterianism." And he will preach at 7:30 p. m. on "Claiming Your Baggage."

The Christian Endeavor meets at 6:30. There is always a good time for all at the C. E. meeting. Last Sunday was a record breaker for attendance. The society used its new moving picture machine for the first time, and had more than 150 present.

The Senior Woman's auxiliary meets in divisions on Monday. Division No. 1 will meet with Mrs. F. E. Bowman, No. 2 with Mrs. Virgil Hale, No. 3 with Mrs. C. V. Gowing. All these meetings are to be at 3 o'clock.

Sunday, March 6th, has been set apart by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church as the "Every Member Canvass" Day. The Presbyterians all over the United States will make this canvass tomorrow for funds to carry on the work of the church in the local congregations and also the mission work of the church in the home land and in the foreign field. All Presbyterians are requested to stay home Sunday afternoon until the canvassing committee call on them. The committee of the First Presbyterian church of Ada will convene at the church at 1:30 p. m. and after one hour in conference and prayer will start out to make the canvass of the Presbyterians of Ada. This committee will meet at the church at the evening service prepared to make a report of the canvass made. It is confidently expected that the drive will easily "go over the top," and the whole amount of the local budget of $6,500 will be subscribed. Every Presbyterian in the city will be expected to be present Sunday morning to give the day a good start and also the evening service to hear the report of success of the canvass. The Presbyterians welcome everybody at their church. Come!

First Baptist Church.

Last Sunday we had 436 present in Sunday school. This was fine but we feel that it would be very easy to have five hundred if more of the older members of the church would come. Let's step on the gas tomorrow.

The pastor will begin a series of sermons on the general subject of stewardship tomorrow. He will preach on this subject for several Sunday mornings. A right view of the doctrine of stewardship and the performing of it, will settle a thousand other questions in the Christian life. The morning service will begin promptly at 11 o'clock. The Juniors will hold their meeting at 4 o'clock with Mrs. Dr. Webster in charge.

The Intermediate B. Y. P. U. will begin at 6:15 with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bell in charge.

The Senior B. Y. P. U. will begin at 6:30. Miss Opal Little is president. Don't forget your Bible readings.

The pastor will preach at the evening hour beginning promptly at 7:30, on the subject, "The Remedy for broken hearts." This service will be evangelistic and a call will be made for decisions to Christ. We are always delighted to have large numbers of unsaved people in our services. We would have every one of them come to Jesus and receive pardon and salvation.

'Make Two Blades Grow--Etc',

Good Advise-- For the Other Fellow

"He has not lived in vain who makes two blades of grass grow where but one grew before."

Which, translated into everyday English, means that the man or woman who increases the productivity of the earth is a benefactor to the human race.

The spring time is at hand—the time of the year when everyone should prepare to produce his or her two blades of grass. Garden truck, flowers, fruits—everything that grows and is of use to mankind comes under this category.

Move Toward Cities.

Statistics show that the great streams of population moves toward the cities. The former ratio of city population to country population has been reversed. Where 50 years ago the great majority of people lived in the country and produced food, now the great majority live in the cities and are only consumers. The world must eat and it is only the great innovations in machinery that have enabled the farms to continue their support of the cities.

"Back to the farm" movements have been tried in vain. A few nerve racked city men have induced their families to move to the farm and try the simple life, but the lure of the bright lights has drawn ten families to the city where one has moved from the city grind back to the farm.

Back to Town.

The man and the family who stay with the farm intelligently and industriously in a few years nearly always outstrips the one who stays in town—but after they have accumulated a little its back to town again.

Man is a social being. He likes to mingle with the crowds. There is a feeling of loneliness on the farm that steals away his goat ere he is aware. A few months on the farm to one who has been accustomed to the city makes him feel that he is out of the world and getting behind the times.

Various plans have been tried to get people on the farms and keep them there but with little success. As long as the world goes round people will gang up, and it would seem that the only solution of food raising is the big farm with machinery—farms where expert mechanists do the farming.

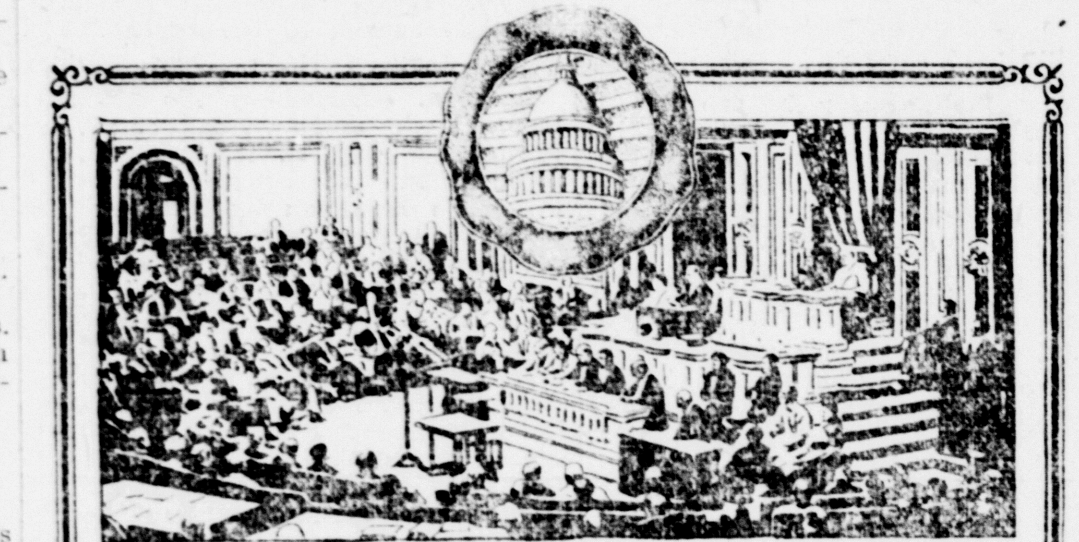

Back to the Movies.

When it is arranged so a man can get his automobile and take his farm hands to the fields in the morning and bring them back into town at night in time for them to wash up for the picture show, farming may become popular to the masses, but until then the majority will continue to eke out a precarious existence in town.

But as stated in the beginning of this article every man and woman may do their bit toward raising food by cultivating a garden or a plot of ground somewhere. If all the gardens and vacant lots were cultivated intensively the supply of food stuff would be greatly increased.

A most delightful menu consisting of broiled bacon, boiled eggs, toasted buns, hot coffee, and fruit was then prepared.

Besides the Phis and their Mother, Miss Watson, the following guests enjoyed their hospitality: Miss Mattie Lyday, Ida Hoover Anna Weaver Jones, Natalie Manville, Lillian Faust, and Lura Blanchard.

HOW OUR REPRESENTATIVES MAKE THE NATION'S LAWS

What happens to the thousands of bills introduced in Congress, and how do those that are finally passed succeed in seeing the light of day?

In our latest booklet of the series on Our Government we tell the story of just how Congress goes about its work, together with some interesting sidelights on the customs which have an important bearing on our legislation.

This booklet is the last of the stories of Our Government. We are contemplating a new series of articles that will be equally interesting and instructive. We shall be glad to put on our list the names of all those in this community who wish to receive them.

WOULD REDUCE TAX IN PHILIPPINES

(By the Associated Press)

MANILA, P. I.—The insular finance commission in a report just submitted to the legislature, recommends the reduction of the personal exemption tax from $3,000 for married persons or heads of families, which the present income tax law provides, to $2,000 and in the case of unmarried persons, from $2,000 to $1,000.

The effect of the recommendation if embodied in a law, would be for every married person or head of a family and for every married person earning an annual income of more than these amounts, to pay to the government a tax equivalent to three percent of the amounts over and above the $2,000 and the $1,000 exemption for married and unmarried persons respectively. The report states that if the present income tax law is amended as recommended by the commission, an additional revenue of $250,000 to the government would result annually.

The commission, commenting on the income tax as a source of revenue says:

"The income tax although annoying are all new taxes and public imposts is unquestionably both eminently equitable in principle and as an economic measure fully in accord with the trend of political developments in all stable popular governments."

"The annoying and so-called inquisitorial features necessary to the efficient administration of the income tax law are found to be far more than compensated by the better administration of private enterprises resulting from the requirement of systematic and true records of income and outlay by individuals as well as by corporations, partnerships, etc."
